

How to Get More Work Done with These 10 Proven Steps

How would you like to get all your work done by the end of the day?

Many people use organisational systems and time management methods but are still unable to get all their work done. Why?

To get more work done, you have to draw up a plan using strategies and tools that will work for you. You need to be aware of time wasters, distractions, procrastination and unproductive use of office technology.

According to a CareerBuilder survey, the three most common disruptions ruining office productivity are talking on the phone and texting, gossiping, and surfing the Internet and social media. With these disruptions occurring every day, it's not surprising that office productivity is at an all-time low.

At the workshop, learn how to develop a plan that will get more of your work done. You will identify important goals, remove time wasters, stop procrastination, use office technology more effectively and learn how to say “no” tactfully.

“If you want to make good use of your time, you’ve got to know what’s most important and then give it all you’ve got.”
Lee Iacocca
